

A close-up photograph of several white asparagus spears. The spears are thick and have a pale, creamy white color. Some of the tips are tinged with a soft pink or light red hue. They are arranged in a slightly overlapping, fan-like pattern on a dark, weathered wooden surface. The wood grain is prominent, showing deep grooves and a rich, dark brown color. The lighting is bright, casting soft shadows and highlighting the texture of both the asparagus and the wood.
